

I saw God today
by Theodore R. Wiersema

I saw God today While I was on my way to the funeral for a child of no more than five. On a road he was lost I shudder to think of the cost of the Creator void of vision and divine plan to contrive. I considered the pain Or the prayers in vain the cry of the soldier with a Holy War to be won. He just gazed at the ground Without making a sound and so I focused forward never to look up to the Son.
