

I'm from No-where, U.S.A.

By Jordan Cochran

It's not important where I'm from,
But where I'm going,
That's the place,
The time,
The space that I want to be
It's where I'm currently putting my energy for life
Packed into my cells
No one else knows as well as me
Where I'm from but,
My goals are where I'm going to end up

See, I'm from No-where, U.S.A.
It may be on the map but it's not important,
At least, you won't be looking for it,
You won't schedule a vacation having
My home town as your "Final Destination"
It exists, not as a "-burg" "-ville" or village,
You won't find it in the popular quayage

I'm from No-where, U.S.A.
And my town is not redundant
Nor a murder mystery as you wish
It might be
Yes, it's most-ly just a grouping of Private Proper-ty, so,
Keep Out!
BEWARE of the DOG-s plural,
I don't wish to have you on my bill
After the incurral
date, but hey, we don't hate

I'm from No-where, comma, U.S.A. but,
That doesn't mean I'm from an unknown place
It's more a State
Of mind, we don't mind visitors just
Be worth our time by being family or friend
Someone who doesn't pretend that

You're from anywhere like Nowhere, U.S.A.
